Icebreaker

Two Truths and a Lie

One person will go to the front of the classroom and share three facts about themselves. However, one of these facts must be either a full lie or a partial lie. Their classmates will attempt to guess which is the lie, and the person who does will go up to the front of the class and do the same. Continue for a few rounds.

HumaniCamp 2023

for rising 6-9th Graders

In Humanicamp, directed by the CCA Humanities Conservatory, students will learn the communicative and research skills required to excel in 21st century education. Guided by teachers experienced in independent research, students will broaden their intellectual horizons with philosophy, civics, ethics, and history, learning from voices and perspectives not found in traditional curricula. They'll also enrich their academic experience with explorations of creative writing and analysis of media. Through this activity-based curriculum, students can engage in a collaborative and constructive learning environment.
